President Joan Hinde Stewart

Joan Hinde Stewart assumed the Hamilton presidency on July 1, 2003. She was formerly dean of the College of Liberal Arts and professor of French at the University of South Carolina (USC). The first in her family to earn a college degree, Stewart also joined the Hamilton faculty as professor of French. She is the first female president in Hamilton's more-than-190-year history.

Prior to her arrival at USC in 1999, Stewart was at North Carolina State University as a member of the faculty from 1973 to 1999 and chair of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures from 1985 to 1997. She also served as assistant dean for research and graduate programs for the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. In 1988-89, Stewart chaired the North Carolina Humanities Council, and in 1977 she received the university's Outstanding Teaching Award.

Before joining the NC State faculty, Stewart taught at Wellesley College. She received her Ph.D. from Yale University in 1970, having graduated summa cum laude in 1965 from St. Joseph's College, a small, private, liberal arts institution in Brooklyn, New York.

Stewart's scholarship focuses on 18th-century French literature, especially women writers. She has written several books and numerous articles, essays and book reviews, and has been a frequent speaker at professional conferences both in the United States and abroad. She is the recipient of fellowships from Yale University, the National Humanities Center and the National Endowment for the Humanities, and has been a fellow at the Université Paul Valéry in Montpellier, France, a visiting scholar at Oxford University in England, and a fellow at the Liguria Study Center for the Arts and Letters in Genoa, Italy.

Hamilton's 19th president is married to Philip Stewart, the Benjamin E. Powell Professor of Romance Studies at Duke University. He has served as chair of romance studies and of Duke's Academic Council, and is the former president of the American Association of Teachers of French. The Stewarts have a daughter, who is a graduate of Haverford College and has a Ph.D. in German at Indiana University in Bloomington, and a son, who is a graduate of Prescott College in Arizona.

Jon Hind Director of Athletics

Jon Hind '80 is in his seventh year as director of athletics at Hamilton College. Hind graduated from Hamilton with a bachelor's degree in mathematics and economics.

Hind previously was associate athletic director for operations at Butler University. He worked in Butler athletics since 1991. He was Butler's first head men's lacrosse coach. Hind was named Division I coach of the year by the U.S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association after he guided the Bulldogs to the NCAA tournament in 1998.

Hind left coaching to become an athletic administrator at Butler in the fall of 1999. He assumed management responsibilities in marketing and promotions in July 2005, while continuing to oversee the department's event management, facilities and budget. Hind was Butler's interim athletic director from May through August in 2006.

Hind was head men's lacrosse coach at the College of Wooster from 1986 to 1991. He played lacrosse and football at Hamilton. He was a four-year letter winner and two-time captain as a defenseman on the lacrosse team, and lettered in football as a sophomore. Hind earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Kent State University. He and his wife Carol are the parents of two daughters, Kayleigh and Meghan.

Kerri Fagan Assoc. Director of Athletics

Kerri Fagan is in her fourth year as the associate director of athletics at Hamilton College. Fagan had been the senior associate commissioner of the America East Conference since 2008. She directed the overall administration of 20 America East Conference sports and their championships.

Before joining America East, Fagan spent seven years with the NCAA.

She was an associate director of championships from 2002 to 2008, and during that time she administered and managed four NCAA championships, including Division III field hockey and Division III women's ice hockey. She served as a liaison to the Division III championships committee and was a member of the Division III governance team. From 2001 to 2002 she was an assistant director of championships for the NCAA, and she was responsible for six championships during that one season.

Fagan was the assistant director of athletics/senior woman administrator at Indiana State University from 1997 to 2001. She administered all aspects of event/facility management for 15 intercollegiate sports.

Fagan is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women's Athletics Administrators. She played varsity field hockey at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst and graduated with a bachelor's degree in sport management in 1992. She earned her master's degree in sport administration from the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse in 1995. She is from Burrillville, R.I.

About the College

Located in the foothills of the majestic Adirondack Mountains, the Hamilton campus is set on a hilltop that overlooks the Oriskany and Mohawk valleys of Central New York. The surroundings are rural and lush, consisting of rolling terrain, gentle hills, wooded glens, dairy farms, fine old houses and tree-lined streets. Yet Hamilton's location puts it within easy range of New York, Toronto, Boston and other major northern metropolitan centers.

The College, chartered in 1812, is coeducational with approximately 1,800 students. Its strength lies in highly regarded academic programs administered by a deeply committed faculty who welcome close collaboration with students. Fundamental to a Hamilton education is the faculty's expectation that each student develops the ability to read, observe and listen with critical perception, and to think, write and speak with clarity, understanding and precision.

Hamilton graduates can be found making important contributions in nearly every professional field, and because of the College's educational contributions to their success, alumni remain enthusiastically loyal to and supportive of the College.

As reflected in applications for admission, Hamilton is considered one of the most selective liberal arts colleges in the country. And, because of the large number of applications that the College receives each year, the student body is unusually diverse. Students come to Hamilton from all parts of the United States — indeed, from all parts of the globe. In such an environment, students learn to appreciate differences and prepare for life in an increasingly global society.

In evaluating prospective students, the admission committee looks for academic achievement as well as personal accomplishments outside the classroom. Thus, both the athlete who excels on the playing field and the musician who participates in a community ensemble have the talents the College is seeking.

Coaching Staff

Adam Stockwell
Head Coach

Adam Stockwell is in his third season as the head men's basketball coach at Hamilton College. Stockwell has guided the Continentals to a 27-22 overall record and a NESCAC championship quarterfinals appearance in two seasons. He coached one player to NESCAC all-conference team and D3hoops.com all-region team honors. Two of his student-athletes have made the NESCAC winter all-academic team.

Stockwell is the ninth head coach in Hamilton men's basketball history. He guided SUNY Oswego and Clarkson University to one NCAA Division III championship appearance apiece in seven seasons as head coach at those schools.

Stockwell went 37-18 in two seasons at Oswego, including a 24-5 record in 2010-11. The Lakers captured the SUNYAC regular season title with a 17-1 record, and the 17 wins set a program mark for conference victories. Oswego went on to make the NCAA tournament and advanced to the second round with a win against Wells College.

Stockwell was named the 2011 East District Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, Upstate Coach of the Year by the Basketball Coaches Association of New York and SUNYAC Coach of the Year. One of his players was named a first team All-American and the SUNYAC player of the year.

From 2004 to 2009, Stockwell was the head coach at Clarkson. He guided the Golden Knights to three straight postseason appearances for the first time in program history from 2007 to 2009. During that time, the team won 40 games.

Stockwell's 2007-08 team finished 7-7 in the Liberty League and entered the league's postseason tournament as the fourth and final seed. Clarkson upset the top two seeds to win its first league championship and earned the first NCAA tournament bid in team history. Stockwell and his assistants were named the league's coaching staff of the year.

The Golden Knights were 15-11 and made the league championship semifinals again the following season. The 2006-07 squad ended up 14-12 and played in the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Upstate Region championship.

Stockwell was an assistant coach at Canisius College from 1999 to 2004. He helped that program post a record of 20-11 in 2000-01 and that 20-win season was one of six in team history.

Stockwell coached at Christian Brothers Academy in Syracuse for one season (1997-98). He began his collegiate coaching career at Penn State-Behrend in 1998-99, when he helped the Lions to a 21-7 record and the ECAC South championship.

Stockwell played college basketball at Division II Le Moyne College from 1992 to 1996. As a senior, he was a captain for a team that tied the record for best season in program history at 24-6, won the New England Collegiate Conference (NECC) tournament and played in the NCAA tournament. Stockwell averaged 21.1 points per game that season. He made the Northeast Region all-region team, the NECC all-conference first team and the academic all-district team. Stockwell was inducted into the Le Moyne College Athletic Hall of Fame in 2007.

After Le Moyne, Stockwell played professional basketball in Northern Ireland's St. Gall's Basketball Association in 1996-97. He also coached an under-19 boys' team in tournaments across the country.

Stockwell and his father, James, are the only father and son in the history of New York high school basketball that have scored 2,000 or more career points. The younger Stockwell played for Belleville-Henderson High School and grew up in Ellisburg. James played at Union Academy of Belleville for former Hamilton head coach Tom Murphy when that team set a national record with 83 straight wins.

Stockwell graduated with a degree in economics and earned his master's in business administration from Canisius in 2002. He and his wife Emily have a daughter, Katherine (9), and a son, Jameson (6).

Jeff VanGorder
Assistant Coach

Jeff VanGorder is in his third season as an assistant coach for the Hamilton College men's basketball team. VanGorder held a number of basketball coaching jobs in the Cortland area in recent years.

VanGorder served as head coach of the Cortland Basketball Club AAU team from 2007 to 2011, and has been the head coach of the Cortland Basketball Club youth team since 2006. During 2010-11, he was an assistant coach for the Cortland High School freshman boys' team. VanGorder has coached at several elite camps for boys, including the Hoop Group's Pocono Skills Camp.

VanGorder graduated from SUNY Cortland in 2010 with a degree in sports management. He was responsible for athletic event game management and statistics while he was a student at Cortland.

Buddy Evans
Assistant Coach

Stan "Buddy" Evans returned to the Hamilton College men's basketball coaching staff in 2013-14. Evans was previously an assistant coach in the program from 1993 to 2004. Most recently, he was an assistant coach at Le Moyne College, and has also served on the men's basketball staff at SUNY Institute of Technology. Evans was the boys' basketball coach at Rome Free Academy from 1970 to 1992. His record was 241-198 and his Black Knights won three Central Oneida League titles and a Section III Class A championship in 1973-74. In 1986, Evans was Lou Carnesecca's assistant coach during the Olympic Sports Festival in Louisiana.

Evans was inducted into the New York State Basketball Hall of Fame in 2011 and the Greater Utica Sports Hall of Fame in 2013. He is also a member of the Section III Basketball Hall of Fame and Rome Sports Hall of Fame. Evans is from Rome, N.Y., and graduated from Syracuse University.

Program Overview

Matt Hart '16 and team captains Greg Newton '14, Matt Dean '14 and Peter Kazickas '14 lead the Hamilton College men's basketball program into 2013-14. Eight players started seven or more games in 2012-13 and four of those eight return this season. Hart enjoyed a fantastic rookie year as he ranked sixth in the NESCAC in scoring at 15.3 points per game, third in free throw percentage at 85.1 percent, tied for seventh in three-point field goals made (2.04/game) and tied for 10th in steals (1.25/game). Newton also averaged in double figures in scoring with 10.5 points per game, and Bradley Gifford '15 ranked eighth in the conference with 4.71 defensive rebounds per game. Ken Click '13 ended his Hamilton career in sixth place on the team's all-time list with 103 blocked shots.

The NESCAC is one of the top athletic conferences in NCAA Division III, and men's basketball is no exception. All three NESCAC teams that played in the 2013 NCAA championship advanced to the quarterfinals and one captured the national title. The NESCAC boasts three NCAA titles and three runner-up finishes. The conference tournament champion receives an automatic bid to the NCAA championship.

The 2013-14 schedule is highlighted by the Hamilton Invitational on Nov. 22 and 23. Utica College, Widener University and D'Youville College round out the tournament field. The Continentals also play in a holiday tournament at Medaille College in late December. NESCAC home games are as follows: Colby College (Jan. 17), Bowdoin College (Jan. 18), Middlebury College (Feb. 2), Tufts University (Feb. 7) and Bates College (Feb. 8). Hamilton plays inside 2,000-seat Margaret Bundy Scott Field House.

In 2011-12, the Continentals started 8-0 and locked up a NESCAC championship quarterfinal berth on the regular season's final weekend with wins against Tufts and Bates in Hamilton's first season in the conference. The Continentals ended up with a 15-10 record and were led by NESCAC all-conference pick Pat Sullivan '12, who went on to play professionally in Ireland.

The 6-foot, 7-inch Sullivan became the 32nd player in program history to score 1,000 points in a career in February 2011. He ended up ninth on the Continentals' all-time list with 1,439 points. Sullivan was a 2011 Division III East Region All-District first team selection by the National Association of Basketball Coaches and was voted the Liberty League offensive player of the year. Ephraim McDowell '12 was in fourth place on Hamilton's all-time list with 164 3-point field goals made when he graduated.

From 1995 to 2011, the Continentals dominated the Liberty League. Hamilton's league record in 16 seasons was 155-59, and the Continentals reached the league tournament championship game eight times in 12 years. Hamilton captured four tournament titles -- the last was in 2006 with a 107-72 dismantling of Union College in the final.

Hamilton appeared in the postseason 35 straight years from 1975 to 2009. The Continentals have played in nine NCAA Division III championship tournaments and advanced to the third round three times. Hamilton captured 10 Eastern College Athletic Conference Upstate Region tournament crowns from 1976 to 1992. Hamilton has won more than 1,000 games since 1899 and passed the milestone in 2007-08 with 17 victories.

More Hamilton men's basketball players have earned more All-America awards than any other Division III program as 14 players have received 22 All-America honors. Tsakani Ngobeni '07 was the most recent All-American in 2007, when he was voted to the second team. Two-time All-American Michael Smith '92 holds the Division III record with 1,628 rebounds in a career. Cedric Oliver '79 and Michael Schantz '99 scored more than 2,000 points in their careers. The Continentals own a 10-9 record in the NCAA championship, and they are 57-28 all-time in postseason play for a .671 winning percentage. Hamilton men's basketball has won 20 or more games in a season 16 times, including 23 victories in 2005-06. The program record for wins in a season is 26 in 1990-91, when the Continentals finished 26-1 and was ranked No. 1 in the final Division III poll.

Eric Benvenuti '13 made the 2012-13 NESCAC Winter All-Academic Team. Each honoree is a varsity letter winner with a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.35. The student-athlete must have reached sophomore academic standing to be considered for honors.

About the NESCAC

Founded in 1971, the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) is a group of eleven highly selective liberal arts colleges and universities that share a similar philosophy for intercollegiate athletics. The conference was created out of a concern for the direction of intercollegiate athletic programs, and remains committed to keeping a proper perspective on the role of sport in higher education.

The formation of NESCAC originated with an agreement among Amherst College, Bowdoin College, Wesleyan University and Williams College first drafted in 1955. Along with these four institutions, Bates College, Colby College, Hamilton College, Middlebury College, Trinity College and Tufts University are sustaining charter members. Connecticut College joined in 1982, bringing the conference's membership to its current total of 11 institutions.

NESCAC members believe intercollegiate athletic programs should operate in harmony with the educational mission of each institution. The conference is committed to establishing common boundaries to keep athletics strong but in proportion to the overall academic mission of the member institutions. In pursuit of this mission, the presidents of each NESCAC institution control intercollegiate athletic policy. Conference tenets are usually more restrictive than those of the rest of NCAA Division III with regard to season length, number of contests and post-season competition.

NESCAC institutions also believe athletic teams should be representative of the entire student body. Admissions and financial policies are consistent with the NCAA Division III policies that prohibit athletic scholarships and award financial aid solely on the basis of need.

In 1999, the NESCAC formally became a playing conference and now sponsors 26 conference championship sports (13 for men and 13 for women). Member schools offer extensive and broad based intercollegiate as well as club and intramural opportunities for both men and women. With member institutions sponsoring an average of nearly 30 varsity programs, NESCAC provides more than 7,500 opportunities for participation in intercollegiate competition at the Division III level. During the 2012-13 academic year, 52 teams participated in NCAA team championships. NESCAC student-athletes claimed nine individual national championships and NESCAC teams won seven national team championships.

Facilities/Sports Medicine

Consistent with the classrooms, laboratories, libraries, studios and other facilities that support the academic program, Hamilton College's athletic facilities are exceptional by nearly any measure. The diversity and quality of these facilities emphasize the school's commitment to the development of both the mind and the body.

The Margaret Bundy Scott Field House, a 55,000-square-foot multipurpose athletic structure, contains three regulation-size basketball/volleyball courts and seats 2,200 spectators. The field house has hosted a number of NCAA Division III men's basketball tournament games and five Liberty League men's basketball championships. The field house houses a six-lane, 200-meter running track and indoor courts for tennis and racquetball. A state-of-the-art Mondo FX surface was installed in 2010, and can accommodate practice for outdoor varsity sports during inclement weather. The field house was dedicated on Nov. 30, 1984, and was named after the daughter of Harlow Bundy, Class of 1877.

Outdoor facilities on campus include Steuben Field for football and lacrosse; the natural grass William D. Love Field used for men's and women's soccer;

the Walter H. Pritchard Track; the artificial turf Campus Road Athletic Field for field hockey; the Royce Baseball Field; the Ferguson Intramural Softball Field and the nine-hole Tompkins Golf Course. The Russell Sage Rink, the William M. Bristol, Jr. Pool and the Little Squash Center are the indoor facilities. The $6.1 million squash facility opened in October 2006 with 10 regulation-size courts, including two with exhibition gallery seating.

The Charlean and Wayland Blood Fitness and Dance Center opened in October 2006. The center houses a dance studio, room for aerobic/cardio training, space for resistance and weight-training, a multipurpose exercise room and a three-story climbing wall. The state-of-the-art facility triples the current space for fitness activities on a campus where approximately 75 percent of the student body -- and many members of the faculty and staff -- work out regularly.

The Blood Fitness and Dance Center is a 30,000 square-foot facility with 9,600 square feet used for fitness and weightlifting. Precor cardio equipment is featured in the fitness area. The equipment includes elliptical machines, treadmills and stationary bicycles. The weight training equipment is by Cybex and includes power lift, hammer strength and positrac.

Sports Medicine at Hamilton College

The Hamilton College sports medicine staff provides excellent medical care for all Continental athletes. The fully-equipped sports medicine clinic is located in Margaret Bundy Scott Field House and is convenient to all team locker rooms. The clinic moved to a 3,400 square-foot, $1 million renovated area in September 2006. The new clinic is four times larger than the old space and features a state-of-the-art rehabilitation center.

The program is under the direction of head certified athletic trainer Scott Siddon. Siddon has been a part of Hamilton's staff since 1996. He graduated with a degree from SUNY Cortland in 1992. Siddon went on to earn his master's from the University of Oregon in 1994.

Assistant certified athletic trainer Pat Giruzzi joined the Hamilton staff in 1999. Giruzzi received his degree from Elmira College in 1998. Pat became a Registered Orthopedic Technologist (ROT) in 2007.

Stephanie Kowell has been a member of the Continentals' staff since 2011 and has been a certified athletic trainer since 2008. Kowell received her degree in physical education with an emphasis in athletic training from SUNY Brockport in 2008, and earned her master's in education from Old Dominion University in 2010. She most recently worked at Fairleigh Dickinson University, and hails from the Syracuse area.

Kara McKeag joined Hamilton's training staff in 2011. McKeag received a degree in athletic training from Springfield College in 2009 and her master's from East Stroudsburg University. She has athletic training experience at Lehigh University and most recently served an internship at The Ohio State University.

In addition to the full-time training staff, a dedicated group of student first responders assist in the daily operations of the athletic training facility. The sports medicine clinic is open from noon to 8 p.m. and other times by appointment on weekdays, and opens according to game and practice schedules on weekends.
